MATH TOURNAMENT

APRIL 3, 2027, 8:30 AM - 3:00 PM

Centennial / Glenelg High School

ABOUT DECAGON

DECAGON is a free math tournament for middle and high school students in Howard County, Maryland, which is organized entirely by high schoolers. With 100+ attendees last year, the tournament allows competitors to hone their math and problem-solving skills in a fun, low-stress competition.

WHY SPONSOR DECAGON?

Math is deeply ingrained in the culture of Howard County. Through the Howard County Math League (where Centennial is the reigning champion), hundreds of students regularly participate in competition math. Within our ranks are multiple qualifiers, finalists, and winners of prestigious national competitions, such as USAJMO, USAMO, USAPhO, USACO, and the UMD Math Competition. Moreover, the Howard County Public School System consistently ranks among Maryland's top school districts based on student performance on state assessments.

By sponsoring DECAGON, your company will not only gain clients and customers – your company will invest in the future of mathematics by providing bright young minds with a meaningful and enriching experience. Your support could mean influencing a student's career path, sparking lifelong passions, and creating opportunities for the next wave of STEM leaders.
